

Greg Anderson
Executive Vice President
EAA Aviation Foundation

John Anderson
CEO
New American Schools
Development Corporation

Eugene Cernan
Astronaut

Vice Admiral (Ret)
Jack Fetterman
President, CEO
Naval Aviation Museum Foundation

Charlotte Frank
Vice President
McGraw-Hill Companies
Former Director of Curriculum,
New York City Schools

Dottie Hall
Marketing Consultant

Dan Majka
High School Chemistry Teacher
President, EAA Chapter 790

Dr. Stephanie Marshall
President
Illinois Mathematics & Science
Academy

James J. Mulva
President
Phillips Petroleum

General Lloyd Newton
Commander
Air Force Education &
Training Command

Tom Poberezny
President
EAA & EAA Aviation Foundation

Joe Wyatt, Chair
Chancellor
Vanderbilt University

Lee Siudzinski, Ph.D.
Executive Director
S-M-T Leadership Project

Leaders for a New Century are Ready

The Eagle Flight Leadership Center

Every great undertaking needs a focal point. Through the Eagle Flight Leadership Center, creative science and math initiatives will be designed, tested and disseminated to every part of the world where EAA members are active.

A 22,000 square-foot extension to the museum, the Leadership Center includes four components:

- Tower of Flight, a stunning observation deck for viewing aerial activities at EAA's Pioneer Airport and Wittman Regional Airport
- Hangar X, a hands-on and minds-on youth gallery of interactive exhibits
- Leadership Laboratory, a state-of-the-art classroom and workshop with computer lab
- Education Center, the administrative nerve center for the S-M-T Leadership Project staff and others

Also serviced from the Leadership Center will be the Young Eagles Web site, with its capacities for supporting a virtual community of inquiry and aviation conversation, flight games and simulations.

The benefits of the Leadership Center will flow far beyond Oshkosh. This outreach potential inspired early donors to launch the Center's construction. EAA members are now asked to bring this structure to life. And that is why the EAA Aviation Foundation has established the Vision of Eagles "Campaign for Kids."

